Tutoring Experience

Over the past 8 years, I have taught Economics to students from diverse academic backgrounds, focusing primarily on IB and A-Level curriculums. My sessions have covered key areas such as market structures, macroeconomic theory, and international trade. Students have praised my ability to simplify complex topics while keeping lessons engaging and relevant.

In addition to IB and A-Level Economics, I have successfully tutored students in IGCSE Business Studies and AP Microeconomics. I've worked with students from China, Europe, and the Middle East, adapting lessons to suit their specific academic needs and goals. My experience includes both in-person and online tutoring, ensuring a flexible approach to learning.

I also mentor students preparing for university admissions, guiding them through essay writing and interview preparation. My focus on connecting real-world economics to curriculum content has helped students achieve top grades while fostering a deeper interest in the subject.
